

iOS DEVELOPER

Execom is a software engineering house established in 1995 with the focus on the entire development cycle. Our headquarters are located in Novi Sad, Serbia, a prominent University center.

We are a family of 130+ experts and technology devotees who deal with challenging projects and deliver against the highest standards and certifications.

We need reliable, battle-tested and bulletproof software developers to join our cause and lend all layers of the stack a hand.

7IF'S TEST:

If you have what it takes to thrive in a futuristic, fluid and entrepreneurial environment;
If you require little oversight to be productive (no micro-management here);
If your communication skills may get you mistaken for a politician;
If you are smart & well-read on both prevalent and emerging web technologies;
If you are autodidactic and you prefer being productive over being idle;
If you are obsessed with finding elegant solutions to technical problems;
If you understand why it would not be proper to format this text as code snippet;
Then you'd probably fit in Execom!

The Skillset:

Knowledge of XCode / Objective C / Swift (optional, yet quite welcome)
iOS Human Interface Guidelines
Design patterns and object oriented programming
Web Services - RESTful API / JSON
Git
API development

The Offer:

A very competitive salary
A top-notch working space in Novi Sad
A position on international projects
A chance to evolve and grow yourself
A lot of fun / team-building / sport moments
The opportunity to make a huge impact with your work (seriously!)

The space to grow your own ideas
Additional health insurance
... and much more.

To apply:

You can send us an email with your CV or link to your LinkedIn account to careers@execom.eu.